

By: Rica Dujon

My Happiness

Being an Astrologer through out these many years, it opened doors for me to meet several different kinds of people from all walks of life. And because of that, through these clients I was able to make new friends. Lately, I have observed that the main reason as to why they consulted me was not solely based on their problems but also in seek of good trusted relationship in which they have found solace whenever they come by to see me.

The solutions to some problems only require mere logic. However, most people are blinded by fear, which causes them to be indecisive and procrastinating when making their own decisions. Human beings, in general need constant guiding support and reassurance to know that they are actually doing the right things at the right time. They are afraid to take one step forward and are more likely to take two steps backward and are hesitant to make changes in their lives. As a result, it hinders their success and growth.

Few years ago, I knew of this lady who happens to be a teacher and has led a thriving yet lonesome life. Although she did not face any difficulties expanding her social circle, she was rather particular when it comes to choosing her friends. For this reason, one could barely count the number of friends that she has within her fingers of her one hand and nothing goes beyond that. Therefore, when someone close to her departs away, she becomes emotionally disturb and attach to that person.

Sometimes, we have to learn to break free from our old ways in order for us to move on and perceive what is in store for us in the future. In my opinion, if she tries to be open minded for a change more doors will be opened for her. Doors of friendship and new beginnings that would generate ideas, activities and interest that would perk up her life. In the end, she chose to hide herself from the realities of life leaving her in the shadows.

On the other hand, Friends are like footprints in the sand; they come and go. They may choose to leave their footprints in our lives forever while the rest of the world walks out. Despite my busy schedule with work and other things, I still kept in touch with my friends. Be it meeting them for a cup of coffee, talking on the phone or even sending emails to each other. Little things such as this make me happy to know that the friendship we have still has its value.

I classify my friends into groups of similar characteristics. In this way, it is easier for me to cater my thoughts to suit their interest. The good thing about it is that you don't end up prying into people's affair. Instead I constantly send them something through the email that would either cheer or stir motivation and knowledge in them, helps and keeps the relationship on-going.

Sometimes we may go through a dry spell in our lives when we are all alone and we do not live through the normal feeling. However, it is these emotional times we face that are embedded within us to tell us what we are lacking in our pursuit for happiness. No one needs to be alone but many will do it by their own choosing. This is plain unhealthy, for sure you will become the prisoner of your own doing. With time you could lose the people skills to be happy and that is the direction you won't want to go to!

It is not difficult to find love but first you got to find "self" so that others can identify with you. I am all for the saying, "Every body needs some body, some where, some-times, some-how!" That can happen with the good timing of the planet positioning of the woman's Moon to the man's Sun and the love planet Venus to make it all happen. Jupiter power will bring in the bonus to your love happiness and prosperity. So, you lonely people out there – get your personal Astrologer to help you with timing your match so as to get for you your catch!

ross@royalastrologers.com – Singapore: 9754 3540 - Perth W. Australia: 0423 948 111