July 2010

Honesty in love is definitely called for! Take nothing and no one for granted. Be thankful for what you have!

You'll be in your element and you'll enjoy lively company and many good conversations.

You will have a chance to take on a project that interests you and this is the time to trust your own judgment,

Your attitude toward health matters is likely to be pretty radical.

August 2010

It is the area where discipline and persistence count most.

This may be your only opportunity. Let down your guard. Tell them how you feel.

Cooperation between younger and older members of the family will have great values.

You've got a good business brain and will find success if you keep plugging away at the problem.

September 2010

A tendency to put family first and sacrifice some of your own needs will endear you to others.

Career-related movements and business meetings should go well. Publicity at this time is good for your reputation.

You won't be able to change the world, but you are gathering your strength for a bigger challenge up ahead.

Exercise that part of your brain that doesn't normally get used.
